INK PIX Announces Release of New EP 'GOLD' and Upcoming Show in Horsham

11/09/2024

Following on from his successful debut, INK PIX will be releasing his new EP GOLD, available first on CD at their upcoming gig at the Roffey Club in Horsham on the 11th of October, followed by its release on streaming platforms on the 25th of October. This highly anticipated EP blends grunge and alternative rock influences with personal lyrics that capture INK PIX's unique sound and growing artistic direction.

Recording the EP with a Talented Team

INK PIX recorded the GOLD EP with long-time collaborator and co-producer Rob Adams, crafting a sound that perfectly captures the raw energy and emotion of the songs. The EP also features Paul Spencer on guitar, whose intricate riffs add depth to the tracks, and Mikey Nash on drums, bringing dynamic rhythms that drive the EP's grunge-inspired sound. Together, the team has created a collection of tracks that reflect INK PIX's evolving musical direction, blending alternative rock influences with a modern edge.

Building on Past Success

INK PIX's previous release, FR-END, is currently available for streaming and has already accumulated over 1,000 streams as an independent artist with no industry backing. The success of FR-END showcased INK PIX's potential, and the upcoming release of GOLD is set to double those numbers as he continues to build on his growing following.

The band is determined to make 2024 their breakout year, with more shows planned in the south and more music in the works. Fans can expect a captivating performance at the Roffey Club in Horsham this October, where they will be the first to get their hands on a physical copy of GOLD.

Biography

I ask myself if I want to hear more from the artist, and I say "yes" – Rock The Joint Magazine

In 2024, INK PIX made a bold entry into the indie music scene with the release of his debut single "FR-END." This track marked the culmination of years of experimentation and soul-searching, where Jack along with co-producer Robert Adams sought to perfect a sound that was both raw and refined. The result was a unique blend of gritty guitars, catchy melodies, and introspective lyrics that struck a chord with listeners.

INK PIX isn't just about studio recordings—Jack has brought together a talented band, including Rob Adams on bass, Paul Spencer on lead guitar, and Ollie Mahoney on drums. Together, they are performing across Sussex, particularly in Horsham and Brighton, where they are building a dedicated following.
